

NOT GUILTY PLEA ENTERED BY THAW

Counsel Permitted to Change
By Tuesday.

Wife Is Treated With Consideration
By State's Attorney Before
Grand Jury.

STORIES OF MURDERED MAN

New York, June 29.—Harry K. Thaw pleaded not guilty to the murder of Stanford White today. His counsel former Judge Olcott, made a formal request of Judge Cowing, before whom Thaw was arraigned, to withdraw the plea by next Tuesday, in order that any motions might be made or other plea entered. The request was granted and the prisoner remanded back to the Tombs.

Subject Too Painful.

New York, June 29.—Mrs. Thaw's testimony before the grand jury was as follows:

"Are you the wife of Harry K. Thaw, accused of the murder of Stanford White?" asked Assistant District Attorney Garvan.

"I am," replied Mrs. Thaw. "Were you present at the time of the shooting of White?" went on Mr. Garvan.

"That is too painful a question for me to answer," said Mrs. Thaw.

"Did you know anything of the trouble between your husband and White?"

"That is too painful a subject for me to discuss," again replied Mrs. Thaw.

"Did you know Mr. White previous to the shooting?"

"That is too dreadful a question for me to discuss," was all Mrs. Thaw would say.

Turning to the jurors, Mr. Garvan said:

"I think we are all agreed on that subject," then addressing Mrs. Thaw the assistant district attorney said: "You may go."

The most important testimony at the inquest was given by Lionel Lawrence, stage director at the Madison Square Roof Garden Theater. Lawrence said that immediately after the shooting Mrs. Thaw rushed up to her husband and, throwing her arms around his neck, said:

"Never mind, Harry; I will stick to you, thick or thin."

Thaw turned to the crowd which surrounded them and said:

"That — ruined my wife and I got him and I fixed him for it."

"What was the appearance of Thaw?"

"He was very white, and his eyes were staring out of his head."

Edward H. Conway, a foreman of laborers at Madison Square Garden, said that he saw both White and Thaw the night of the murder. He described Thaw's movements, saying that Thaw had passed him twice, going back and forth behind the table at which White sat. The second time Thaw approached White's table he saw Thaw extend his arm, and the three shots followed in quick succession.

More Witnesses.

The district attorney's office completed the examination of the competent witnesses so far discovered yesterday, and immediately shifted its attention to the investigation of the relations existing between Evelyn Nesbit and Stanford White prior to the girl's marriage and the attitude assumed by Thaw after he had made her his wife.

"I am investigating every story regarding the life and dissipation of the parties to the tragedy," Mr. Nott said. "There are many of them. I get a new tale every minute, and so far neither the police nor the force of this office has been able to substantiate one of them."

"The report that White made an insulting remark about Mrs. Thaw on the night of the shooting, which was overheard by her husband, is groundless, so far as I have been able to learn."

"I am perfectly satisfied that nothing that happened Monday night had anything to do with the shooting. The deed was planned before then. That White talked about Mrs. Thaw after her marriage is heard on all sides, but I have been unable to run down a single specific instance in which her name was mentioned by him in a derogatory manner. I never knew of a case in which there were so many."

ROOSEVELT PRAISED BY CZAR.
Nicholas Speaks Highly of President's Services for Peace.

CHICAGO

OUT-CHICAGOED BY LONDON
PACKING PLANT.

Investigation Said to Reveal Conditions Never Coming Under Official Observance.

London, June 29.—Jacob Meyers, editor of the Butchers' Advocate of New York, after a fortnight's investigation here, declares that the majority of English slaughtering plants are in a worse condition than those in New York and Chicago.

"In the United States," he said to the correspondent of the Banner yesterday, "the assembling of cattle, hogs and sheep and their conversion into beef, pork and mutton takes place in broad daylight and anybody may see the whole show."

"In England the private slaughter houses and petty packing places are hidden away in remote streets and lanes where the inspectors seldom or never go. The cheapest meats, coming from nobody knows where, are bought in the open markets to be ground up and preserved in tin, earthenware and glass and then sent by the tens of thousands of packages to the small shops throughout the country."

"This part of the industry is of an utterly wildcat character with no supervision, no real knowledge of the science of meat preservation and with no sanitation except such as individuals may chance to think worth while."

A CLOUD, A CHUNK OF ICE, A BREEZE

These Are The Things Paducahans Are Thinking Of.

Humidity of the Atmosphere and Sultry Nights Are Debilitating in Extreme.

ONE DEGREE COOLER TODAY.

It is hot.

Any breeze short of a cyclone would be met at the edge of Paducah by a reception committee headed by Deal's band, if sufficient notice were given. Any little old cloud, even though no bigger than a man's hand, is the recipient of flattering attention and the subject of anxious speculation. A "city size" chunk of ice is welcomed so warmly in the household that it melts almost before it reaches the refrigerator.

It is hot. It is humid, and therefore, people think they are hotter than they really are.

Suffering in some quarters is intense. Most people can ride to the country in their autos or behind their high steppers or on the street cars, when the sun sinks in a red hot glow in the west; but the sweating poor, with their little ones, must make the best of the situation in the heart of the city, and this they do with Spartan courage. The sidewalk is the rendezvous of the very poor.

At 1 o'clock today the temperature was 94, one degree lower than the same time yesterday. This morning the lowest temperature reached was 74, four degrees higher than the same time yesterday.

After sundown yesterday and late into the night people sought relief from the oppressive heat by driving out the country roads through the woods or riding in the street cars.

While today is no hotter than yesterday, the heat is being felt more because it was impossible to rest comfortably last night, so that most persons started in on the day worn out. Last night a 8 o'clock it was still hot in the city and the car lines had trailers crowded.

William Borneman, weather observer for the government, does not think it is extraordinarily hot for this time of the year. All day yesterday the uppermost thought in the minds of everybody was the heat and it formed the chief object of conversation, as much as if some great international event had taken place. The soda fountain did a landoffice business, while in many homes lemonade and home-made drinks helped to make the heat less uncomfortable.

The ice companies did a record business and were out early and late supplying the demand. The predictions for tomorrow do not offer any relief, but a violent reaction may be expected at any time.

Heat Prostrations.

Two prostrations are reported: Frank Barger, a carpenter of the south side, while working near Ninth and Washington streets yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, was overcome by heat. He fell to the ground and was unconscious for some time. He was taken home, a physician secured, and today is better.

Yesterday afternoon William Walker, a moulder at the Shelton Foundry and Machine shops, on South Third street, was overcome by heat in the early afternoon. He was not seriously affected and is out today.

The fine imposed amounted to $13, counting costs. The defendant left his watch with Chief Collins. His lawyers attached it in Justice Emery's court, and tomorrow the timepiece will be sold. Blake has not been heard from since the day he "soaked" his watch.

ment Association Was in This City.

Col. John L. Vance, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement association was the guest of Mr. S. A. Fowler for a few hours Wednesday morning, on his way from Cairo to Louisville. Col. Already 50 engineers are in the field between Louisville and Cairo, and engineers arrived on the Wave Rock and Look-out to make soundings and surveys between here and Cairo and between here and Caseyville.

Col. Vance was enthusiastic over the prospects for improving the river since the rivers and harbors committee has agreed to give everything asked for to make the surveys. He thinks that recommendations for locks and dams on the river will be passed by the next session of congress and the committee will recommend that the work be pushed to completion as soon as possible from Pittsburgh to Cairo. It will take seven years to complete the proposed improvements.

Col. Vance believes Paducah would be vastly benefited by the improvement of the river and requested Mr. Fowler to recommend that the Commercial club prepare a statement as to what it would mean to Paducah.

CAN MAKE NO BOND TO PERFORM DUTY

City Policemen Are in Peculiar Situation.

Mayor Yeiser and Commissioner Favre Relieving Them From This Burden.

SURETY COMPANY WITHDRAWAL

Attorney Tom Harrison, representing the Title Guaranty and Surety company, stated this morning that the bonds of Paducah patrolmen have not been released, that his company is still responsible. The impression Chief Collins was laboring under yesterday was erroneous. Attorney Harrison stated:

"The police force, twenty-five in number counting officers and patrolmen, are all under bonds furnished by my clients, and yesterday I investigated the mode of gaining a release. I did not intend to state that the company had released the officers. I will at the next meeting of the board of fire and police commissioners make application for release, and as a matter of precaution will ask the general council to ratify the commissioners' action."

This will necessitate the officers getting individuals to go their bond unless another surety company will furnish bond for them.

Mayor Yeiser and Police Commissioner Bond are in favor of relieving policemen and firemen from the burden of bonds. Their reason is that, while it is now impossible for patrolmen to secure the backing of a bonding company, individuals do not like to go their security on account of the oft-repeated necessity of defending themselves in damage suits arising continually, as the result of arrests. Not infrequently it is the best and most efficient officer on the force who is sued the most.

Bonding companies find that one law-suit will eat up in attorneys' fees more than the aggregate premiums in a year.

Said Commissioner Bond: "What's the use of bonds for policemen and firemen. In the case of the latter there is never any occasion to hold them on their bonds. In the case of policemen the individual who feels he is outraged has the same recourse against the policeman he would have against any other person. The policeman can be sued or prosecuted criminally for assault and battery. He doesn't handle any of the city's money and there is no reason why the city should demand bonds of the men."

Vincennes, Ind., June 29.—Today was Ladies' Day and the grand stand was filled with fans eager to see the Indians and Hoosiers battle for the third game of the series. It proved to be the best game played on the Vincennes diamond this season.

For eleven innings the two teams battled without a run, without a hit, sacrifice hit or stolen base. In this inning, however, both teams broke into the score-getting business. It seemed that the pent-up excitement unraveled both teams at this inning.

Paducah scored one run in the eleventh inning. Cooper made a long drive to left field and Moran failed to get under it. Nippert, who had previously singled, scored on the drive. Vincennes scored through errors. Whitley batted for Farrell and singled to right field. Mitchell bunted, but Haas fumbled it and Mattison slipped the bases with a single. With these men on bases and no one out.

Hostlers Whitewashed.

Mattoon, Ill., June 29.—The locals were "goose-egged" yesterday by the Rats. The game was not one-sided by any means, the locals outhitting the Rats. Only four hits were made by the locals but the visitors got but two hits off "Round-house" McCarthy. Errors gave the visitors their scores.

The score: R H E

Mattoon ..... 0 4 4

Belittles Win From Danville.

Jacksonville, Ill., June 29.—The locals won yesterday from Danville in a closely played game. Hits were frequent on both sides and errors tallied. Both pitchers were in good condition and the game a good one. Danville ..... 2 9 2
Jacksonville ..... 4 8 2
Batteries—Selby and Qulessor; Fox and Belt.

DIAMOND DOPE.

The Indians have played few games on the circuit with their regular line-up. The Indians are unlucky. If the regular line-up could be maintained a few successive games the result would be different. A team with infield changed daily can do little team work.

Three straight to the Hoosiers is more than the fans here expected, and judging from reports at Vincennes was more than the Hoosier fandom expected.

All three were close games at Vincennes.

Paducah's run was earned yesterday and Vincennes' two were not.

"Chief Lloyd is on hand looking as young as ever. Chief claims he is not an old man by any means and that he is younger than given credit for. If the chief is under 40 he must have commenced playing professional ball before he discarded short dresses."—Vincennes Capital.

"Red Perry certainly plays a great game when in Vincennes. There is no shortstop in the league who can touch him when it comes to fielding. If he plays the same everywhere as he does here."—Vincennes Capital.

"Nippert robbed Donovan of a hit by pulling down a drive that looked good for two sacks."—Vincennes Capital.

Here's hoping the Indians take two out of three from Mattoon.

Danville is to be strictly in the game and is making diligent efforts to secure new men and good men at once. The following two notes from the Danville Press will show what is being done.

"It was learned from good authority last night that Claude Rothgeb, the former University of Illinois foot ball player, is en route from Troy, N. Y., where he has been playing baseball since securing his release from the Indianapolis American association club, to Danville to take charge of the local team."

"Fred Abbott, captain and catcher of the Toledo team, and former captain of the Danville club, has wired the local management that he has two good men, a first baseman and an outfielder who will be sent to Danville if they are wanted. It was stated last night that Capt. Abbott had been wired to send them on. The men must be good else Abbott, who has always had a warm spot in his heart for Danville, would not recommend them."

Abbott is injured and out of the game for some time, and Grover Land is doing the regular catching for Toledo, leaders in the American Association. Land in Wednesday's victory got two singles. He is hitting the ball on the nose and making more than good in the A. A.

Haas and Wetzel were out of the game on Tuesday at Vincennes and Lloyd played first. Lloyd made two bad ones which helped let in the winning run.

Berryhill Denies.

Berryhill went to Danville yesterday to see the owners of the club. He denies that he has been made manager of the Vets.—Vincennes Sun.

French a Hoosier Again.

Charley French, the fast little second baseman who had some trouble with the management some time ago, has returned and rejoined the team today and will be seen in his accustomed place.—Vincennes Sun.

Baseball in England.

London, June 29.—British baseball is to be British baseball. This has been decided upon by the British Baseball association. Not only has the association decided that no American shall play any position save catcher in a championship game, but as soon as the British players become accustomed to the work behind the bat the inhibition will be extended and none but British players will be allowed to take part in championship games. The popularity of the game already has achieved is wonderful, in view of the traditional British conservatism. The games so far have been well attended and the attendance is on the increase.

THE MAN BEHIND THE BAT.

"Oh, yes, we all have heard about The man behind the gun,
And of the bleacherite that grins
Behind the sausage bun;
And though we've heard of him that stands
Behind this thing and that,
The greatest of the lot today's
The man behind the bat.

He throws the ball to "second," and
He lines it down to "third,"
And catches quick the player who
Skims homeward like a bird;
And though the pitcher may out-
curve
Himself, we throw our bat
Aloft and split the welkin for
The man behind the bat.

E'en as the yak the peanut gulps
Serenely on the fly,
He grabs the ball that like a shot
Comes whizzing from the sky;
And when the bowwow scoots along
To overtake the rat
He isn't half as lively as
The man behind the bat.

He capers, round in circles, and
He reaches high and stoops,
And he is everywhere at once,
And so the ball he scoops;
Oh, nothing ever passes, for
As lively as a cat
That gayly scrambles up a tree's
The man behind the bat.

Now, when you figure up the men
Who glad the public eye,
Though soldiers, actors, bankers
The builders of the pie,
You'll shout, and very suddenly,
"Now, by Jehosaphat,
The biggest of the pile today's
The man behind the bat!"
—Exchange.

BATTLEFIELDS PRESERVED

Government Probably Will Make Yorktown a Military Reserve.

Norfolk, Va., June 29.—The committee on national parks of the Sons of the American Revolution is greatly encouraged by the results obtained in having the battlefields at Stony Point and Valley Forge preserved as state reservations to be maintained and preserved forever for the "free engagement of the people of the state."

The secretary, William Van Zant Cox, records the fact that the Virginia and District of Columbia society are interested in having a military park established at Yorktown. In its report to congress of the Sons of the American Revolution, the suggestion is made by the committee that now when the Jamestown inter-centennial anniversary is receiving the attention of the entire country, the auspicious time has come for united effort. It is hoped by the society that the senators and representatives of Virginia will press the measure on the congress of the United States with a reasonable hope of success.

Cairo 2, Mattoon 0.

Today's Schedule.
Paducah at Mattoon.
Cairo at Vincennes.
Jacksonville at Danville.

Vincennes, Ind., June 29.—Today was Ladies' Day and the grand stand was filled with fans eager to see the Indians and Hoosiers battle for the third game of the series. It proved to be the best game played on the Vincennes diamond this season.

For eleven innings the two teams battled without a run, without a hit, sacrifice hit or stolen base. In this inning, however, both teams broke into the score-getting business. It seemed that the pent-up excitement unnerved both teams at this inning.

Paducah scored one run in the eleventh inning. Cooper made a long drive to left field and Moran failed to get under it. Nippert, who had previously singled, scored on the drive. Vincennes scored through errors. Whitley batted for Farrell and singled to right field. Mitchell bunted but Haas fumbled it and Mattison slid the bases with a single. With these men on bases and no one out.

The score: R H E

Paducah ..... 1 6 2
Batteries—Farrell and Mattison; Brahe and Downing.

Hostlers Whitewashed.

Mattoon, Ill., June 29.—The locals were "goose-egged" yesterday by the Rais. The game was not one-sided by any means, the locals outhitting the Rais. Only four hits were made by the locals but the visitors got but two hits off "Round-house" McCarthy. Errors gave the visitors their scores.

The score: R H E
Cairo ..... 2 2 1
Mattoon ..... 0 4 4
Batteries—Morgan and Searles; McCarthy and Langdon.

Bellites Win From Danville.

Jacksonville, Ill., June 29.—The locals won yesterday from Danville in a closely played game. Hits were frequent on both sides and errors tallied. Both pitchers were in good condition and the game a good one. Danville ..... 2 9 2
Jacksonville ..... 4 8 2
Batteries—Selby and Quiesler; Fox and Belt.

DIAMOND DOPE.

The Indians have played few games on the circuit with their regular line-up. The Indians are unlucky. If the regular line-up could be maintained a few successive games the result would be different. A team with infield changed daily can do little team work.

Three straights to the Hoosiers is more than the fans here expected, and judging from reports at Vincennes was more than the Hoosier fandom expected.

All three were close games at Vincennes.

Paducah's run was earned yesterday and Vincennes' two were not.

"Chief Lloyd is on hand looking as young as ever. Chief claims he is not an old man by any means and that he is younger than given credit for. If the chief is under 40 he must have commenced playing professional ball before he discarded short dresses."—Vincennes Capital.

"Red Perry certainly plays a great game when in Vincennes. There is no shortstop in the league who can touch him when it comes to fielding, if he plays the same everywhere as he does here."—Vincennes Capital.

"Nippert robbed Donovan of a hit by pulling down a drive that looked good for two sacks."—Vincennes Capital.

Here's hoping the Indians take two out of three from Mattoon.

Danville is to be strictly in the game and is making diligent efforts to secure new men and good men at once. The following two notes from the Danville Press will show what is being done.

"It was learned from good authority last night that Claude Rothgeb, the former University of Illinois foot ball player, is en route from Troy, N. Y., where he has been playing baseball since securing his release from the Indianapolis American association club, to Danville to take charge of the local team."

"Fred Abbott, captain and catcher of the Toledo team, and former captain of the Danville club, has wired the local management that he has two good men, a first baseman and an outfielder who will be sent to Danville if they are wanted. It was stated last night that Capt. Abbott had been wired to send them on. The men must be good else Abbott, who has always had a warm spot in his heart for Danville, would not recommend them."

Abbott is injured and out of the game for some time, and Grover Land is doing the regular catching for Toledo, leaders in the American Association. Land in Wednesday's victory

got two singles. He is hitting the ball on the nose and making more than good in the A. A.

Haas and Wetzel were out of the game on Tuesday at Vincennes and Lloyd played first. Lloyd made two bad ones which helped let in the winning run.

Berryhill Denies.

Berryhill went to Danville yesterday to see the owners of the club. He denies that he has been made manager of the Vets.—Vincennes Sun.

French a Hoosier Again.

Charley French, the fast little second baseman who had some trouble with the management some time ago, has returned and rejoined the team today and will be seen in his accustomed place.—Vincennes Sun.

Baseball in England.

London, June 29.—British baseball is to be British baseball. This has been decided upon by the British Baseball association. Not only has the association decided that no American shall play any position save catcher in a championship game, but as soon as the British players become accustomed to the work behind the bat the inhibition will be extended and none but British players will be allowed to take part in championship games. The popularity of the game already has achieved is wonderful, in view of the traditional British conservatism. The games so far have been well attended and the attendance is on the increase.

THE MAN BEHIND THE BAT.

"Oh, yes, we all have heard about The man behind the gun,
And of the bleacherite that grins
Behind the sausage bun;
And though we've heard of him that stands
Behind this thing and that,
The greatest of the lot today's
The man behind the bat.

He throws the ball to "second," and
He lines it down to "third,"
And catches quick the player who
Skims homeward like a bird;
And though the pitcher may out-
curve
Himself, we throw our hat
Aloft and split the welkin for
The man behind the bat.

Even as the yak the peanut gulps
Serenely on the fly,
He grabs the ball that like a shot
Comes whizzing from the sky;
And when the bowwow scoots along
To overtake the rat
He isn't half as lively as
The man behind the bat.

He capers, round in circles, and
He reaches high and stoops,
And he is everywhere at once,
And so the ball he scoops;
Oh, nothing ever passes, for
As lively as a cat
That gaily scrambles up a tree's
The man behind the bat.

Now, when you figure up the men
Who glad the public eye,
Though soldiers, actors, bankers
The builders of the pie,
You'll shout, and very suddenly,
"Now, by Jehosaphat,
The biggest of the pile today's
The man behind the bat!"

BURIED TO CHIN IN HEAP OF SAND

Workman is Rescued After Hours of Work.

Family Watches Struggle While Minister Stands by to Administer Last Rites.

UNCONSCIOUS WHEN REMOVED.

New York, June 29.—After fighting against death for more than twenty-two hours, Jeremiah Fisher, a plumber, was rescued alive from a sand pit at Tomkinsville, Staten Island, in which he had been imprisoned since 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The rescued man is in a pitiable condition from exhaustion, however, and it is not certain that he will survive the effects of his frightful ordeal. Fisher was working in an excavation when a passing street car loosened the earth around the hole and sent an avalanche of sand pouring down on him. Before he could scramble out of its way, the sand had sifted in around his legs, holding him as firmly as if in a vice and gradually rising until only his head was visible.

Family Looked On.

For hours a large force of rescuers worked with frantic haste in an effort to free the imprisoned man, but the sifting sand surged back and renewed its grip upon the prisoner almost as fast as they could remove it.

When the rescuers began to abandon hope of getting Fisher out alive, they reluctantly decided to notify his family of his predicament, and the wife, mother and brother witnessed the all-night fight for life.

Hundreds of persons from all parts of the island flocked to the scene, and many of them remained throughout the night. An ambulance with physicians and nurses also stood by, in constant readiness to render any aid they could, and two clergymen who had been summoned, awaited the call to administer the last rites, should the task of the rescuers prove unavailing.

Couldn't Budge Him.

All through the night the rescuers labored under the light of torches, and when daylight came they had succeeded in uncovering the imprisoned man's body as far down as the hips. Then ropes were attached under Fisher's arms, but the combined strength of twenty men failed to move the imprisoned man an inch.

Fisher, then, was unconscious, and the physicians who had been watching his condition declared that there remained only the faintest hope of his surviving much longer. The rescuers stuck to their work, however, and hours later, when the last obstacle was removed and the senseless form of Fisher was drawn from the stifling hole, a spark of life still lingered.

TWO RECRUITS

Y., in the signal corps, and Mullinax goes to Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, for the infantry branch of the service.

The committee heard several petitions and protests and at 9 o'clock went into executive session and remained an hour behind closed doors. The committee had a list of all saloons running in the city and decided last night on who will be recommended for renewal of liquor license.

It is reliably stated that eight saloons will be reported as improperly conducted, and the committee will recommend that no license be granted them. The names of the proprietors are withheld until the regular council meeting Monday night.

During the open session of the committee several saloons were cited as improperly conducted. The saloon of James Rickman 1814 Bridge street was the first. Residents and property owners filed a petition asking that no license be granted. They allege that the saloon is improperly conducted. Rickman appeared in person and brought in evidence to the contrary.

The Rainey and Jenkins saloon, at Eighth and Jones streets, was next discussed.

Attorney Hal Corbett presented a petition asking that the license be refused as crowds congregate about the saloon and offer insults to young girls employed in the Dixie mills just across the street.

Rev. T. J. Newell spoke against granting a renewal of license to saloons near Eleventh street and Broadway. He stated that crowds of half drunken men congregated about the places and school children often have to take to the middle of the street to avoid them.

J. D. Overstreet at Eighth and Boyd streets, who was fined in police court for violating the Sunday closing law, was reported.

The license list was carefully gone over.

What report the committee will make to the general council has not been given out, but the members probably will consider each case carefully before acting. It is also said that the saloonkeepers may be given a chance to be heard before they are deprived of licenses.

Daily Thought.
"A loose tongue can tie some terrible hard knots in life's skein."

Under the editorial caption, "Make Louisville a Seaport," the Louisville Herald sounded the tocsin for all the river cities. A nine-foot stage we want, and let us get it before the Panama canal is finished. There lies the great hope of the Mississippi system. New Orleans is awake to the opportunity. Her citizens realize that the completion of the Panama canal will make of her a great seaport; how great only time can demonstrate. But New Orleans hopes—she expects—to rival New York and snatch right out of the heart of the United States the ever-growing trade of the Orient. The railroads realize it, and they are fighting for entrance into the Crescent City. It even is rumored that the great Pennsylvania system is seeking for an opening.
While those roads already on the ground are striving to block their rivals. All this means something to the cities on the Ohio and other navigable tributaries of the Father of Waters. If New Orleans is to be the port, why will not this sudden growth of commerce reflect in trade of the upper Mississippi? In other words why will not Paducah and other cities as fortunately situated profit by their ready access to the great shipping port by becoming the producing centers for the oriental trade? It is to the river rate that Paducah must look and Paducah must continue in the fight for the improvement of the waterways and encourage the river commerce.

Newspaper publishing is a business enterprise and must be conducted according to business principles. The dissemination of news is its public function, and the success of the enterprise is governed by the honesty with which this function is performed.
The public expects the newspaper to print all the news without prejudice just as it expects the merchant to sell
"all wool goods and a yard wide," and the paper that gets the news first and prints it, gains favor just as does the merchant, whose seasonable stock is first offered for sale and advertised.
It is this policy that has made a success of the Paducah Evening Sun.
The failure always seeks outside the office for an excuse, but only by the standards of honesty and efficiency can any business prospect be measured.

A woman slipped on a banana peeling and fell, severely injuring herself. She might have broken her neck. It was an accident directly traceable to the carelessness of some one, who probably never had been trained in the nice details of public cleanliness. If the board of public works would provide boxes at proper intervals on the streets, especially along Broadway, people soon would become accustomed to using them and the unsightly heaps of trash, sometimes containing the murderous banana peeling, would be done away with forever. These boxes have proven of excellent service in other cities.

Coincident with the report that the congressional conference committee is deadlocked on the agricultural appropriation bill, the Princes of Packing-town declare they are heartily in favor of federal inspection of the abattoirs.
Never mind. Unless we have mis-judged the resourcefulness and determination of the president of these United States, we will have governmental inspection of the packing plants sufficient even to satisfy the frenzied craving of the packers themselves.

The fact that Stanford White's life was insured for $199,000 furnishes another clue to the motive for his murder. Hereditary instinct, attributable to a long line of money-making ancestors, may have been so strong in Harry Thaw, that an irresistible impulse for profit taking caused him to convert a worthless life into a valuable asset.

A Denver man gone daft over black eyes succeeded because he failed in his quest. Maybe he picked the wrong color. Many a man has started forth in quest of blue eyes and come home with black ones.

Richard Croker hopes to live to see Bryan president. Perhaps, that's just another way of wishing for a long life.

Assuredly, Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw is a fair cause for a quarrel.

The Value of Exercise.
The value of exercise for keeping the body in a good healthy condition is more fully appreciated nowadays than ever before and especially is it recommended to us in the summer season.

Exercise stimulates the blood flow and the healthy perspiration that follows aids the skin in throwing off the poisons and by bringing into play the different muscles of the body, it develops them and at the same time adds to the nerve force, one of the most necessary conditions for a good healthy condition.

Note the youngsters that play and comp at all sorts of games in the summer. See the clear skin, the bright eye, the ease with which perspiration sets in. For them, there are few days of sickness. It would be the same with the grown people, however, if they would only exercise. But they won't.

The osteopathic treatment is as natural as exercise. It has the same effect of the system. It stimulates and rights the blood flow and it gives tone to the nerves. It exercises the bowels and liver in a far superior way to any romping or play, and stimu-lates all the functions with which nature has provided the body to right itself.

Especially, when preceded by the dry, hot air treatment, is the osteo-pathy successful for heretofore you get all that the most vigorous exercise gives—a good "sweat," free flow of blood and development of every nerve and muscle. And, following, comes at once the greatest of tonic effects, which are but natural.

I am giving this treatment every day with very marked success and shall be pleased to recommend you to a number of very prominent people a Paducah who will verify all I claim for it.

Call to see me at my office at any time between 9 and 12 in the morning and 2 and 5 in the afternoon.

Dr. G. B. Froage, 518 Broadway.
Phone 1407.

COL. ERNST

Retires With Rank of Brigadier General.

Washington, June 29.—Colonel Oswald Herbert Ernst of the corps of engineers, U. S. A., who was retired today for age with the rank of brigadier general has had a notable career as an engineer since the civil war. As a young lieutenant just out of West Point he served as assistant chief engineer in the Army of the Tennessee.
Colonel Ernst is chairman of the Mississippi river commission and a member of the isthmian canal commission.
He is also a member of the American section of the international water ways commission, chairman of the board of engineers charged with surveys for a water way between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river, and a member of the board to consider cement testing in the department of the interior. He served through the Spanish war.

Jere Dunn Dies.

Elizabeth, N. J., June 29.—Jere
Dunn, noted gambler, turfman, politician, sportsman and gun fighter, died here yesterday of cancer of the throat.
He was sixty-three years of age, and a veteran of the civil war, during which he served with distinction in the Union army. Since the war he is known to have killed three men, the most conspicuous of which was Jimmy Elliott, the heavyweight prize-fighter, whom he shot in a Chicago barroom.

ny rumors which were without a grain of truth."

Mrs. Thaw following her appearance before the grand jury, crossed the Bridge of Sighs and entered the city prison to see her husband. They talked together for a long while and when Mrs. Thaw finally attempted to leave the great granite building she found her way barred by the largest crowd, the police say, that has ever gathered about the structure.

She was virtually held a prisoner by the inquisitive throng for thirty minutes, when reserves from many police precincts managed finally to clear a way for her.

White Heavily Insured.
Mrs. Thaw has been instructed by her husband's counsel to furnish to him every scrap of writing she has from White. She has promised to look for more of the letters.

A man connected with the Equitable Life Assurance society said last night that Stanford White's life was insured in that company for $199,- 000, by policies taken out at various times in the past twenty years. During that period, it was said, Mr.
White paid to the Equitable $90,000 in premiums. All of the policies were made payable to his wife.

It is believed that White was heavily insured in other companies as well.

Stanford White was buried with simple ceremonies at St. James, L. I., where he had a summer home.

In the opinion of the physician who performed the autopsy on White's body, the life of the architect was shortened not more than two years by the bullets from Thaw's pistol. He was found to be suffering from Bright's disease, from hepatic tuberculosis and from fatty degeneration of the liver.

GIRL IN THE PIE.

Another of the Oriental Revelries of Stanford White.

New York, June 29.—In the traditions of gay life in New York there is no incident more picturesque nor better remembered than that of "The Girl in the Pie."

A banquet was in progress in a studio. The studio was a synonym of luxury. The entertainments given there were Lucullan in character, and a truthful description of them would read like a chapter from "Quo Vadis."
In this instance the host had surpassed all his former munificent hospitality. The "little spread" cost $350 a plate. Artists, architects and men about town, with several women of the "fashionable" stratum of the under world, were his guests. There had been much drinking and "liffe" eating, toasts brilliant but requiring expurgation for family use, and the hour was nearing dawn. The guests were trying politely to repress signs of weariness, when the host served his piece de resistance.

Girl Bursts Pie's Crust.

Four negroes entered, carrying a huge pie, around which were grouped wax candles of every shade. The negroes retired. The banqueters looked on in amazed silence. Beneath the crust, in the middle of the table, there was a faint stir, as if from some living thing. At a sign from the host, the orchestra, concealed by palms, swung into the strains of the old nursery jingle:

"Four and Twenty Blackbirds Baked in a Pie."

Simultaneously the stir beneath the crust increased. It was burst by a movement from beneath, and there rose a slim figure, half child, half woman, who turned a pretty infantile face upon the diners and stood poised in her black gauze wrappings, as a bird about to fly, while twenty-four gold canaries, that had been imprisoned in cages with her released by her hand, flew about in every direction.

Taken by Stanford White.
One of the men sitting at the end of the table rose and pressed his way to the middle. He laughingly lifted the girl from the table to the floor.
He was Stanford White.

The girl was Susie Johnson, a child model. She was then fifteen years old. Immediately after the dinner she disappeared. Her mother, who lived at 104 Eighth avenue, sought the aid of the police and the press to find the girl, but they were unsuccessful.

For three years she remained in hiding. When she was found she told a revolting story of mistreatment and desertion by the man whom Nemesis overtook in the midst of lights and music and laughter one Monday night.

Turned Into the Street.
"I was lifted from the pie to a seat at the table, and found myself the queen of the revel," she said, "It was dazzling for a little while, but in the end it proved a sad quondam."

"Mr. White was kind for a short time, but he went to Europe, and when he returned and I tried to see him he was never in. He had instructed his clerks to get rid of me with as little trouble as possible. I never saw him again."

Thus was the girl, not yet sixteen, turned into the streets to live as she might.

By a strange coincidence Susie Johnson married, and when her husband learned of the "girl in the pie" dinner he brooded over the episode in his wife's life until he almost became insane. It ended by his desertion of her.

FAMILY MILLIONS PUT IN FIGHT

Relatives of Thaw in Pittsburgh Take Steps for His Defense.

Pittsburgh, June 29.—A party of relatives of Harry Kendall Thaw, headed by Benjamin Thaw, a half-brother, started for New York at noon today, and it was announced by one close to the family that the $40,- 000,000 estate of the Thaws has been placed at the disposal of Harry to assist in extricating him from his present trouble if possible.

THIRD-STORY ELOPEMENT NOW.

Iowa Couple Sets New Record for Escaping Lovers.

Iowa City, Iowa, June 29.—A new record in elopements was set today when a loving couple escaped from a third-story window. The elopers came from Marengo, a small town near here, the girl being Miss Ruth Wilson and the man giving his name as E. C. Cummings of New York. They were stopped by the police and Miss Wilson spent the night in a third-story room of the St. James hotel.
Cummings remained up all night playing cards, and when Miss Wilson rang for water at 5 o'clock in the morning he was allowed to take it up to her. He did not return and when the officer searched the hotel he found his prisoners had flown.

FOR MODERN CHURCH SERVICE

British Ecclesiastical Commission
Presents Report to Parliament.

London, June 29.—The royal commission on ecclesiastical discipline appointed by the Balfour ministry in 1904, in its report presented to parliament recommends that the two houses of convocation prepare a new rubric and bring the service of the church into harmony with modern requirements; also that a contumacious clergyman, instead of being imprisoned, should be deprived of his living and prevented from accepting a new living. It is proposed to institute a new court of appeals for ecclesiastical cases and refer to the bishops as a body disputed points of doctrine.

Then Took His Life.

Denver, Col., June 29.—Because he spurned the attentions of a woman who said she was Mrs. Tudor Kearns, claiming to be the wife of an editor connected with the Red Book, a mag-

BOARD OF HEALTH IS DISCOURAGED

Courts Do Not Co-operate in Work of Sanitation.

Ordinances Affecting Health of Community Not Enforced By Strict Penalty.

WORK OF BOARD IS FLAGGING.

The board of health will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at which time important business will be considered and definite action taken in regard to the board's power to enforce its regulations. Much valuable time has been lost from the inability of the board to back up its suggestions for sanitary reform by authority. A notice might be served by the inspector on property owners to remove nuisances but in many instances these notices have produced no effect. The board wants to know if it can expect to be backed up by the city in its actions, which will require the issuance of many warrants. The point at the end of Fourth street will be one of the first things acted upon. Garbage and other matters also will be discussed.

Dr. C. H. Brothers, president of the board of health, charges that the board can not get the proper co-operation of the courts in its crusade against bad sanitation, and because of this lack of support the board has become discouraged and the excellent work it undertook has been allowed to flag.

He declared this morning "We have done all we can. That is to say, we have gone as far as we can with these urgent matters relative to bad sanitation, and when we get this far and stick, all the meetings in the world can be of no force. We can not get the proper co-operation of the courts, and this is the matter in a nutshell. Warrants are issued and complications arise. The matter generally ends by a dismissal. If a few of the residents and property owners who say, "O, well, I know it needs cleaning, but I have got no time just now to have it done," when ordered to clean up, were fined, it would remedy matters. We condemn nuisances and ask for warrants and can not find a court having jurisdiction. Breaches of ordinance for lack of sanitation should be punished by a fine the same as other ordinances are supported in the courts, and until we do secure this necessary support, little can be done in our line."

Dr. Brothers claims that it is and has been the next thing to an impossibility to secure the punishment of those who violate the health ordinances.

A GREAT MANY people appreciate the value of these little ads, but there are a host of people who don't. Just as an illustration of the good work they do:

A reader of The Sun lost his shetland pony last week—rather it strayed away—and after searching all the adjoining and neighboring commons for it an ad was put in Tips Saturday. Monday morning, about 7:30, a resident on one of the rural routes, five miles from the city, phoned in that he had the pony.

"That's certainly quick work," said the advertiser, when he called to pay for the ad and have it "killed," and I had no idea The Sun was so widely circulated."

NEWS OF THE RAILROAD MEN.

Banner Year for N. C. & St. L.
The fiscal year of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway ends on the 30th of June, and while there is a report to be made on the earnings of last week, the gross earnings of the system for the year 1906 are estimated at $10,750,000, which is approximately an earning capacity of $9,000 per annum for every mile of road on the system. The largest year's earnings was 1905, when the gross earnings reached the amount of $10,075,000, but the freight traffic department has kept everlastingly at it, and the facilities for handling business have been increased until the enviable record has been made.

Quits Road for Hotel Business.
Mr. J. E. Lovell, Jr., who has been connected with the auditor's office of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway for five years, has accepted the position of cashier of the Maxwell House. In his five years' service Mr. Lovell has attained creditable prominence in the service of the road and has gained the esteem of those with whom he worked. A record of continued success is the wish of his many friends.—Nashville Banner.

Famous Knife Grinder.
Col. R. R. Sutherland, of the Illinois Central shops, is noted the system over for his ability in the knife sharpening line and nearly every higher official on the road brings his knife around to the veteran carpenter for an overhauling when he comes to Paducah. It all started by Col. Sutherland's offer to "shape up" Master Mechanic R. J. Turnbull's knife. He made such a good job of it that other officials heard of it, and recently when a party of higher officials of Chicago inspected the shops, they left all their knives with Col. Sutherland to sharpen. They have been bringing them in since, and Col. Sutherland's fame in this particular line is not confined to Paducah alone.

Sprained His Ankle.
Mr. Quincey Wallace, local chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, and delegate to the joint protective board of the system, is ill at his home suffering from a severely sprained ankle. He started to step from his residence yesterday and his right ankle turned. Mr. Wallace is not able to walk. He hopes to be out in the next three days, but will probably have to use a cane for some little time.

The special meeting of the Illinois Central Hospital association board of directors did not materialize yesterday. No date has been set. The meeting was to have been held to let contracts for improvements to the building and yards.

The last runaway box car has been taken from the river at the foot of the Illinois Central incline on Campbell street and the transfer box began landing trains yesterday afternoon.

A bond will be required for the performance of the contract, the board reserving the right to reject any or all bids. This the 29th day of June, 1906.

BAD DREAM.

Dan Meyers, Colored, Falls Off Porch
and Is Hurt.

Dan Meyers, colored, an employe of the Illinois Central, was injured in a peculiar manner yesterday afternoon. He was seated on his front porch when he went to sleep and in his dreams fell to the ground, cutting a gash in his forehead about an inch long on a brick. The injury was dressed at the railroad hospital.

Vestry Meeting Called.
There will be an especial meeting of the vestry of Grace Episcopal church this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the office of Mr. Muscoe Burnett on South Fourth street. All the members are requested to be present.

LAND OF FREE

AND EASY GRAFT, IS OPINION OF SECRETARY HITCHCOCK.

Wonder if This Is the Home of the Morally Brave—Speech at Harvard College.

Cambridge, Mass., June 29.—The 270th commencement exercises were held at Harvard university today. Among the recipients of honorary degrees was LL. D., Ethan Allen Hitchcock, secretary of the interior.

In accepting his degree, Secretary Hitchcock said, in part:

It is claimed for our country that it is the "land of the free and the home of the brave," but while it is historically brave, and it is also true that it is the home of the physically brave, it is a question in my mind whether it is not too much the land of the free and too little the land of the morally brave. In other words, it is a question whether, in various directions, license has not taken the place of liberty, and corruption has not run riot at the expense of patriotism.

It is the smooth, machine-ridden legislator whose conscience has been cauterized by the appeals and demands of his supporters upon whom responsibility for wrong-doing must rest. It is such legislators who, in a large measure, govern the passage, amendment or repeal of legislation that encourages iniquitous enactments such as at this very moment remain upon the statute books, in spite of my earnest appeal, year after year, to have them modified, amended or repealed, because of the unmistakable opportunity and inducement they offer the pension shark and the horde of conscienceless grafters, whose business it has been, and still is, to rob the government of the public domain.

BAR ASSOCIATION.

Elects Officer and Executive Committee—Next Meeting.

Winchester, Ky., June 29.—The State Bar association election of officers resulted as follows: President, S. D. Rouse, Kenton county; vice president, Dr. W. P. Drury, of Union; W. F. Browder, of Lebanon; W. S. Porter, of Barren; W. G. Anderson, of Barren; R. C. Talbot, of Bourbon; Thomas R. Brown, of Boyd; and D. Boone, Logan, of Bell; secretary, R. A. McDowell, of Louisville; treasurer, R. S. Still, of Lexington. The executive committee, J. S. Kelley, of Nelson county; L. C. Willis, of Shelbyville; T. K. Helm, of Jefferson; J. A. Dubose, of Warren, and Bernard Flexner, of Jefferson. Time and place of the next meeting will be determined by the executive committee. Bowling Green has asked for it.

NEW DATE FOR HANGMAN.

Judge Orders Murderers Executed
Monday Because of Crucifixion.

Omaha, June 29.—"The crucifixion of Christ took place on Friday, and I do not think it appropriate to set the execution for two murderers for that day," said Judge Sutton today when he sentenced Jay O'Hearn and Harrison Clarke to be hanged on a Monday. The statement of the court came as a surprise, for it upsets the long-established custom of making Friday "hangman's day." "My reason for fixing Monday," continued the court, "is that I think it better to have these men meet death on the day following Sunday, which is devoted to religious thought and services, as they naturally will be in a better frame of mind to go to their reckoning on that day than any other."

Kills Fiancee While Awaiting Pastor.

San Antonio, Tex., June 29.—Miss Ernestine Kutzer, daughter of a wealthy farmer near Comfort, Tex., was shot and killed this afternoon by Joseph Reinhardt of Comfort. Reinhardt then shot himself and died about an hour later. Reinhardt and Miss Kutzer were engaged to be married. He called at her home this afternoon and insisted upon marriage at once. License and minister were sent for and, while the messenger was absent, the shooting occurred. No witnesses were present.

HOW TO ATTRACT BETTER CLASSES

Dr. Caldwell's Success in Building Up Section.

Iron Clad Contract to Prevent Establishment of Nuisance
His Rule.

IDEA FROM CHANCE REMARK

West Broadway and Jefferson streets are conceded to be the most fashionable streets in Paducah, and the fact that only the better class of residents live in that section of the city can be attributed directly to Dr. S. B. Caldwell, the veteran real estate dealer.

If credit is to go to whom due, it can be truthfully said that this entire end of the city was built up, that the class of people residing there and the success of this part of Paducah as a clean and wholesome resident portion was built up by Dr. Caldwell. It was a long pull, and the way it was brought about, the manner in which the idea struck Dr. Caldwell, is told by himself.

"It is a singular fact that the slightest word or idea, no matter how trivial it may seem on superficial observation, may turn the whole tenor of a person's life," Dr. Caldwell stated, "and the way these two streets, or this portion of Paducah was made what it is, is due to a chance expression that I heard May 17, 1891, while I was conducting a sale of lots in this portion of the city. 'The city limits extended to the railroad hospital and the toll gate was at the Bradshaw residence in that year. I started my sale of lots and had sold a few when I decided to go out in the crowds and see what was being said. Lots at that time were comparatively cheap, but we were asking cash prices or good security. I heard one person remark, 'Why, come down in my end of town and I will sell you property for half what these lots are bringing, and let you pay $1 a month.' Well, do you know that this chance remark set me to thinking and you see the result. Broadway west, and Jefferson west, is inhabited by the best class of people. There are no saloons and it can rightfully be said that it is the most or as much a genteel resident portion as can be found in Paducah."

"I thought to myself that not a very good class of people could be secured by such inducements as a dollar a month payment. I stopped my sale right then and there. I revised my deeds and added a clause. This clause has been inserted in every deed to property I have, made for real estate in that section of the city since that time. The clause makes it obligatory on the purchaser to put up a house to cost not less than a stipulated sum, and to be finished within a specified time. It also carries with it an iron-bound agreement not to put up any saloon. The better class of people are protected. It has enhanced the value of property and built this end of the town up. It all came from this one idea, and I feel that I have been amply repaid."

"For illustration when Mr. E. P. Noble bought his lot where his fine house now stands, I insisted that he give a bonus note to build a house of certain value within a year. He has done it, and his note of $200 has been presented to him. I require this in all deeds to this and property on Caldwell avenue near the depot. It is an idea that will help build up a city and the success of its application in this particular instance demonstrates its practicability."

Dr. Caldwell also owns the fair ground property. He will not sell it unless the purchaser carries out his ideas. "I could have secured over $10,000 for the 32 acres, but would not take $30,000 unless it be sold in lots with my iron clad agreement in the deeds. I believe in protecting those people who help you build up a residence portion. Exclude all objectionable features to genteel and polite residents, and time will do the rest."

IMPROVING

Is Condition of William Aday At Asylum.

Mrs. William Aday, of West Jones street, this morning received a letter from the asylum authorities at Hopkinsville relative to her husband's condition. Mr. Aday was adjudged insane last week and taken to the asylum. His foot, which was badly swollen from blood poisoning, is rapidly healing and he is much improved in health. He sleeps better and has a good appetite. As to his mental condition little can be told, but the physicians think the derangement is only temporary.

WILD WEST

EXHIBITION WAS EXTEMPORAN-EOUS BUT WORTH WHILE.

Loan Agent Has Set-to With Pony and Wins After Experience of Life Time.

A wild west exhibition lasting several minutes was furnished station men at fire station, No. 1, last evening about 7 o'clock. The fun was fast and furious and the crowd that collected in the short space of a few moments would have made a street fakir ashamed of himself.

H. Hayden, representing a local loan company, was driving a small wiry Texas mare. His buggy was a low vehicle of the phaeton pattern with top detached. Sam Howell, employed as a driver for a local brewery, let his desire for a jounce carry him too far. He stepped out and waved his hat in front of the mare.

In as brief time as it takes to imagine the pony went up into the air. There was a knocking and buckling of horse flesh, a few fancy side movements, and the fun began. Kick after kick was directed at the heavy driver. Hayden dismounted his nerve and remained seated in a vain effort to quiet the little animal.

The mare finally got so badly tangled in the shafts and harness that it could kick no more. It required the combined efforts of Howell, Fire Chief Wood, Hayden and several others, to lift the little animal out of the position it had gotten itself in.

Hayden made temporary repairs, and although the shaft was splintered, he hitched up and proceeded his way. The mare had been entirely mastered and jogged calmly on.

TELL STORY OF REMARKABLE DISCOVERY IN MEXICO.

Mining Men Dazzled at Exhibition of Samples—On Way Back to Kentucky Home.

Monterey, Mex., June 29.—Two Louisville boys who came to Mexico several weeks ago in search of adventure, and to prospect the mountains for minerals, have discovered a lost gold mine, in an almost inaccessible portion of the Sierra Madres, in the southern part of the state of Zacatecas. On account of the remoteness and roughness of the locality, few professional mining men had visited there. From all accounts, the gold mine which these boys have discovered contains ore of almost absolute fabulous richness. It was evidently worked by the Spaniards a century or two ago.

The precious metal is claimed not only to be free milling, but to exist in places in small grains, which may mother.

TWO NEW RED HATS FOR THIS COUNTRY

Satolli's Influence at Rome In Ascendant.

Arch Bishop Farley, of New York, in Line of Promotion in Church, Says Report.

EXPECTED WITHIN THE YEAR

The public statement recently made by Cardinal Satolli, former apostolic delegate in the United States, that Archbishop Farley, of New York, was destined to obtain higher honors very soon, is a very important one, not only because it forecasts the certain promotion of the New York prelate to one of the highest dignities of the church, but also because it came from the lips of a cardinal who is considered just now the most influential prelate in the Curia, says a Rome special to the New York World. Ever since Cardinal Satolli relinquished his post at Washington, soon after his promotion to the Sacred College, his only aim in life has been to conquer that ascendancy over his colleagues that would make him second only to the pope in influence and power. He did not succeed very well at first, as Cardinal Rampolla, then the secretary of state, had the pope's ear and maneuvered so that Satolli's ambitions could not find a prompt and early fulfillment at the vatican court.

Cardinal Satolli's opportunities came with the election of the present pope because of the appointment made by Pius X of a young and inexperienced prelate as his secretary of state. It was not long before Pius X found out that he needed maturer counsel in the transaction of business than that of the young prelate who had charge of the foreign department of the church. At first he relied entirely on Cardinal Oreglia, whose diplomatic handling of the conclave caused the present pope's election, but the dean of the Sacred college, old and feeble as he is, was barely able to visit the vatican once a week, thus precluding the possibility of his being of much personal assistance to Pius X in the emergencies which arise from time to time.

Satolli's Influence.

It was just at this time that Cardinal Satolli returned to Rome after a visit to the United States, to which country he had gone by special permission of the pope to celebrate the marriage ceremony for the daughter of a rich Catholic friend, and was able to present to the pope a large sum of money collected during his tour of America. Since that time Satolli became a power at the vatican until at the present moment the pope does not do anything without consulting him and obtaining his advice. The other cardinals know of this and show their colleague the deference due to a successful rival in obtaining such an influence in vatican affairs which makes them practically the masters of the situation in the Curia.

The unassuming Cavagnis, the diplomatic Agliardi, the exceedingly courteous, obliging Vannutelli, the suave Ferrata and even Oreglia, the dean of the Sacred college, who now compose the so-called church "bloc," which Pius X is obliged to consult before he even makes a move in any matter, are all warm friends of the former apostolic delegate to the United States and may be said to court his personal favor because they know of the enormous influence he exercises at the vatican. Hardly a day passes that Cardinal Satolli's carriage is not seen to enter the gate of the vatican, where he remains for hours, usually in close consultation with the pope.

Because of Cardinal Satolli's personal influence and the confidence which Pius X bestows on him, the hint he recently gave as to a coming promotion of Archbishop Farley clearly indicates that there will soon be another cardinal archbishop in New York. As it is, Archbishop Farley can obtain no other promotion but that of the cardinal's hat, as he is already at the head of the most important diocese of the world and has already obtained the nomination of assistant to the pontifical throne which gives him precedence over all the other archbishops not invested with the same dignity. It is then safe to say that the New York prelate will soon become a member of the Sacred college, and thus add to the influence exercised by the American hierarchy in the council of the princes of the church.

As to when this promotion, long expected in America, will take place, it is the general opinion here that before the end of the year the pope will nominate several additional cardinals, among which will be included

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the United States Dispensatory, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. F. Felt, author of Paine's Epitome of Medicine, says of it:

"I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia medicinal principle, extracted from Stone root, and is now attending to his business. Medecine physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all but a hopeless case. It is a great relief to the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in many instances effects a cure."

The New York archbishop. Already the matter has been settled for the December consistory, and it is expected that at least one new American cardinal will be proclaimed before next Christmas. It is then more than probable that the centennial of the creation of the diocese of New York will see as its head a full-fledged prince of the church.

Still Another Red Hat.

Many of the personal friends and admirers of Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, and Ireland, of St. Paul, were simply stunned by the authoritative statement made by Cardinal Satolli regarding the impending promotion of Archbishop Farley. While some of them consider the remarks of the cardinal an able diplomatic move to enlist the pope's attention to the pre-eminence of the New York See for the honor of the cardinalate, others are working tooth and nail that the pope shall nominate two American cardinals at the same time. It has been submitted to Pius X that the thirteen million American Catholics never had sufficient representation in the Sacred college, while so-called Catholic nations, like France, Spain and Austria, the number of practical Catholics in which is much less than in the United States, always had five or six cardinals representing them in the councils of the church.

Especially at the present moment, when it has been decided by the vatican authorities not to nominate any more French cardinals because of the troubles between the church and the government in that country, it is asserted that the only way to maintain the proper proportion of foreign cardinals in the Sacred college is to promote more than one American prelate to the coveted honor. It is generally thought here that this last argument is powerful enough to decide the pope to nominate more than one American cardinal at the December consistory, and it may be after all that the promotion of Mgr. Farley to the Sacred college will not be the only one among them.

KENTUCKY'S OWN IS FAMOUS BURGOO

Of Welch Origin But Flavor Much Improved.

GIGANTIC KETTLES ARE USED

This famous soup, known now as an especially Kentucky brew, was originally a Welsh product introduced into Virginia by the colonists, and coming to Kentucky with the Virginians who followed in the wake of the early pioneers. The Welsh soup, however, was a rather watery, gruel-like stuff, not at all pleasing to the American palate, and it was only in our state that it arrived at its present rich consistency and delicious flavor by the added variety and quantity of the ingredients. And although it may sound simple to the uninitiated, brewing the burgoo in the vast quantities that it is made is quite a nice art which not every one is capable of doing successfully; it is a tedious, laborious task, for to begin with, the enormous masses of food must be prepared, and once they are in the pot requires constant stirring to prevent burning. Then, take in to consideration that the soup must boil from eight to ten hours after everything is in, it will be readily seen that the office of brewer is not so soft snap.

In Kentucky, Monsieur Jaubert is the expert of expert burgoo makers, and is known far and wide as the "Burgoo Man," a title of which he is very proud. Jaubert has been making burgoo ever since he was a small boy, and to him is due the honor of bringing it to its present state of perfection, for as he naively remarked: "I kept on improving the mixture until I got what tasted good to me, and I found it was generally relished by the people at large, so I have let the recipe alone."

These huge kettles, by the way, are something of a curiosity, one having a capacity for 700 gallons of soup, while the other can contain 300, which makes it possible to brew 1,000 gallons of the burgoo at one time. Great interest also attaches to them for the part they have played in so many noted state events, such as religious encampments, picnics, barbecues and political meetings, where many a statesman has been successfully launched into the political arena and many another saw his hopes scattered to the winds. They have figured at nearly all such immense gatherings of the people during state campaigns and at the big Bluegrass farm and stock sales, and particularly at the autumnal sales of blooded horses, where it would be impossible to handle and feed the crowd in any other way. One special occasion of which Mr. Jaubert is extremely proud is when he gave the largest barbecue in the world. This was during the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, held in Louisville in 1895, when he prepared to serve 200,000 people. Fifteen thousand gallons of burgoo were made, and to this alarming soup brew there was the additional task of barbecuing some forty-five hives, 383 sheep and 244 pigs, all done to that delicious turn which can only be accomplished in open-air trenches and where the cooks are expert in the handling and roasting of large bulks of meat.

The style of serving the burgoo is on the most hospitable scale, for when it is done it is poured from the kettles into clean tubs, and each person, armed with a tin cup and spoon proceeds to help himself, drinking as much as he likes, with never a one to say him nay. At the country sales it is not only the folks who attend who are supplied with it, but the neighbors from far and wide send for buckets of it to be taken home as it is considered a treat to drink Jaubert's Kentucky burgoo.

TWO NEW RED HATS FOR THIS COUNTRY

Satolli's Influence at Rome
In Ascendant.

Arch Bishop Farley, of New York, in Line of Promotion in Church, Says Report.

EXPECTED WITHIN THE YEAR

The public statement recently made by Cardinal Satolli, former apostolic delegate in the United States, that Archbishop Farley, of New York, was destined to obtain higher honors very soon, is a very important one, not only because it forecasts the certain promotion of the New York prelate to one of the highest dignities of the church, but also because it came from the lips of a cardinal who is considered just now the most influential prelate in the Curia, says a Rome special to the New York World. Ever since Cardinal Satolli relinquished his post at Washington, soon after his promotion to the Sacred College, his only aim in life has been to conquer that ascendancy over his colleagues that would make him second only to the pope in influence and power. He did not succeed very well at first, as Cardinal Rampolla, then the secretary of state, had the pope's ear and maneuvered so that Satolli's ambitions could not find a prompt and early fulfillment at the vatican court.

Cardinal Satolli's opportunities came with the election of the present pope because of the appointment made by Pius X of a young and inexperienced prelate as his secretary of state. It was not long before Pius X found out that he needed maturer counsel in the transaction of business than that of the young prelate who had charge of the foreign department of the church. At first he relied entirely on Cardinal Oreglia, whose diplomatic handling of the conclave caused the present pope's election, but the dean of the Sacred college, old and feeble as he is, was barely able to visit the vatican once a week, thus precluding the possibility of his being of much personal assistance to Pius X in the emergencies which arise from time to time.

Satolli's Influence.

It was just at this time that Cardinal Satolli returned to Rome after a visit to the United States, to which country he had gone by special permission of the pope to celebrate the marriage ceremony for the daughter of a rich Catholic friend, and was able to present to the pope a large sum of money collected during his tour of America. Since that time Satolli became a power at the vatican until at the present moment the pope does not do anything without consulting him and obtaining his advice. The other cardinals know of this and show their colleague the deference due to a successful rival in obtaining such an influence in vatican affairs which makes them practically the masters of the situation in the Curia.

The unassuming Cavagnis, the diplomatic Agliardi, the exceedingly courteous, obliging Vannutelli, the suave Ferrata and even Oreglia, the dean of the Sacred college, who now compose the so-called church "bloc," which Pius X is obliged to consult before he even makes a move in any matter, are all warm friends of the former apostolic delegate to the United States and may be said to court his personal favor because they know of the enormous influence he exercises at the vatican. Hardly a day passes that Cardinal Satolli's carriage is not seen to enter the gate of the vatican, where he remains for hours, usually in close consultation with the pope.

Because of Cardinal Satolli's personal influence and the confidence which Pius X bestows on him, the hint he recently gave as to a coming promotion of Archbishop Farley clearly indicates that there will soon be another cardinal archbishop in New York. As it is, Archbishop Farley can obtain no other promotion but that of the cardinal's hat, as he is already at the head of the most important diocese of the world and has already obtained the nomination of assistant to the pontifical throne which gives him precedence over all the other archbishops not invested with the same dignity. It is then safe to say that the New York prelate will soon become a member of the Sacred college, and thus add to the influence exercised by the American hierarchy in the council of the princes of the church.

As to when this promotion, long expected in America, will take place, it is the general opinion here that before the end of the year the pope will nominate several additional cardinals, among which will be included

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the United States Dispensatory, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. "I not long since had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonia (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Therefore physicians, aware of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

For Warm Weather Wear

This week, owing to the rapid approach of the glorious Fourth, there will be quite a strenuous demand for blue serges, gray worsteds outing suits and other kind of summer attire. History repeats itself every season at this time and trading at this house becomes very active. Further than this, we want you to know that ours is probably the only complete line of desirable worsted grays to be found in Paducah, and this fact is due to our having taken advantage of a late importation of worsteds which we had made up to our order by the best American tailors. Had we not taken this action, we, too, might be unable to meet the demand for the most popular styles of the season because of their unprecedented sale. This again illustrates the force of WEILLE'S enterprise and the lengths to which we will go to please our trade.

Blue Serges and Fancy Worsteds

Hand tailored Blue Serge and fancy Gray Worsteds Suits—a large number at a radical price reduction which interests economical buyers.

These suits are cut in the newest style and splendidly tailored throughout. Intended to retail at $20.00 and $22.50, and we could readily sell them at those prices, but the way they were bought allows us to offer them at less and still make a fair profit. The price, as long as they last, will be

$15.00

Two-Piece Outing Suits

We have entered extensively into the Outing Suit proposition this season, and have devoted much attention to an elaborate and complete display of styles. The range of materials is wide, the variety of styles complete, and we have arranged to fit men of all proportions.

Tropical weather is past due and is likely to burst upon us at any moment, hence we suggest a look at these splendid summer suits. The materials of which our Outing Suits are made are above reproach—rich gray worsteds, smart London flannels and guaranteed blue serges.

Our price, which is the lowest consistent with quality, is

$7.50 to $20.00

COLLEGE BRAND CLOTHES
(REGISTERED)
MADE IN NEW YORK CITY

Fine Outing Shirts

We flatter ourselves that the display of new Outing Shirts at our store is so attractive, and, withal, so sensible, that it will appeal to your good judgment and your pocketbook without a moment's delay. The latest and swellest arrivals are the outing shirts with soft collars and turned up cuffs, in linen, pongee, Madras and soisette, and in nature's own colorings—blue, gray, grass and white. The new French flannels in white or gray, with collars and cuffs attached, are mighty 'tippy' too. You'll feel fine on the Fourth encased in one of our fine stylish appearing "heat-proofs." The prices are

Summer Hosiery

No doubt your supply of hosiery needs replenishing about this time and if your guess is correct you ought to see our furnishing goods man by all means. ## CIGARS LIKE LEAD PENCILS

Thin Shape Comes Into Fashion—Cost as Much as Others.

"The latest fashion in cigars," said a dealer, "is a shape that resembles a lead pencil in length and thickness. All the cigar manufacturers are getting them out, and the longer and thinner they are the more people like them."

"It seems as if the smokers were trying to get as little for their money as possible. There's a popular belief just now that the less tobacco there is in a cigar the better the tobacco must be in quality."

"There's no getting away from the fact that the new lead pencil cigars have a lot of style to them and are more attractive than the big kind that bulge out in the middle. I notice that most of the men who buy them are particular about their personal appearance and want everything they use to have character about it."

"Your middle-aged New Yorker who dates back to the days when there was nothing doing above Twenty-third street, would never bother with such short smokes as these new fangled ones. One of these New Yorkers came in the other day with a younger man who tried to get him to take one of the 'epicures,' as they call them. They are just as expensive as the big ones, by the way, sometimes more expensive."

"Not on your life," said the older man. "I'd have to keep the band on that toothpick to show I wasn't smoking a Pittsburgh stogie. When I smoke a cigar I want a man's size, not a cigarette made to bring up babies on." And he picked out an imported Rothschild as black as ebony."

"That the long, thin cigars are distinctly a new fashion is shown by the fact that they can only be found at the shops that have the most exclusive trade."

"A lot of men who have stuck to one kind of cigar for years don't know that there are fashions in cigars, but the styles change just as the styles in shirts do."

The Way We Talk.

A posthumous paper by Dr. John Foster Kirk, the author of "History of Charles the Bold," arrests attention in the July number of Lippincott's Magazine. Under the title of "Words, Words, Words," Dr. Kirk talks about the English language as it is spoken on both sides of the Atlantic. He takes up words and phrases in common use, particularly the "Americanisms" which our English cousins so often "first pity, then embrace."

The author sums up his subject by saying: "Although English 'as she is spoke' or written will perhaps never be quite the same on the two sides of the Atlantic, the general tendency is reverse, such being the common result of closer association and greater conformity of conditions. The innovations, real or supposed, have been mostly on this side, where, however they are now less extreme than formerly, especially as regards spelling and pronunciation. There is a conservatism that still, with or without reason, resists such forms as 'center' and 'theater.' On the other hand 'honor,' 'favor' etc., are more likely to find currency in England than to be disestablished here, though one word of this class, 'savior,' in its specially sacred sense, did not assume this form without an occasional protest. The famous Cambridge proof-reader, Mr. Nichols, whose corrections used to be the terror of the Atlantic writers, once said to the first editor of that periodical, 'Mr. Lowell, before I would print the name of my Redeemer without the "u" I would consent to ———.' I was not told the final word."

Extra Precaution.

(From the Chicago News.) "Stranger in town, eh?" ventured the New York man who was standing on the corner of Halsted and Taylor streets.

"Yes, by gum!" drawled the old farmer with the yellow valise. "And Cynthia sewed my pockets up twice before he would let me come to Chicago."

"Ha, ha! That's pretty good on Chicago. You bet she wouldn't have to sew your pockets up twice if you were going to New York!"

"No, by heck! She would sew them up three or four times!"

For Warm Weather Wear

This week, owing to the rapid approach of the glorious Fourth, there will be quite a strenuous demand for blue serges, gray worsteds outing suits and other kind of summer attire. History repeats itself every season at this time and trading at this house becomes very active. Further than this, we want you to know that ours is probably the only complete line of desirable worsted grays to be found in Paducah, and this fact is due to our having taken advantage of a late importation of worsteds which we had made up to our order by the best American tailors. Had we not taken this action, we, too, might be unable to meet the demand for the most popular styles of the season because of their unprecedented sale. This again illustrates the force of WEILLE'S enterprise and the lengths to which we will go to please our trade.

Blue Serges and Fancy Worsteds

Hand tailored Blue Serge and fancy Gray Worsteds Suits—a large number at a radical price reduction which interests economical buyers.

These suits are cut in the newest style and splendidly tailored throughout. Intended to retail at $20.00 and $22.50, and we could readily sell them at those prices, but the way they were bought allows us to offer them at less and still make a fair profit. The price, as long as they last, will be

$15.00

Two-Piece Outing Suits

We have entered extensively into the Outing Suit proposition this season, and have devoted much attention to an elaborate and complete display of styles. The range of materials is wide, the variety of styles complete, and we have arranged to fit men of all proportions.

Tropical weather is past due and is likely to burst upon us at any moment, hence we suggest a look at these splendid summer suits. The materials of which our Outing Suits are made are above reproach—rich gray worsteds, smart London flannels and guaranteed blue serges.

Our price, which is the lowest consistent with quality, is

They conform perfectly to every movement of the body. Loose-fitting, cool, they're simply perfection for hot weather. 50c a garment.

Fine Outing Shirts

We flatter ourselves that the display of new Outing Shirts at our store is so attractive, and, withal, so sensible, that it will appeal to your good judgment and your pocketbook without a moment's delay. The latest and swellest arrivals are the outing shirts with soft collars and turned up cuffs, in linen, pongee, Madras and soisette, and in nature's own colorings—blue, gray, grass and white. The new French flannels in white or gray, with collars and cuffs attached, are mighty 'toppy' too. You'll feel fine on the Fourth encased in one of our fine stylish appearing "heat-proofs." The prices are

NOTHING IN IT, SAYS JACK CANNON

Warns Youths Against Their Becoming Burglars.

Sermon Is Preached When Veteran Is Caught In Wrong Room In Hotel In New York.

HAD GOOD EXCUSE TO OFFER

"Old Jack" Cannon is in the Tombs again.

In 1895 Inspector "Tom" Byrnes, in his book, "The Professional Criminals of America," wrote this line after the biography of Cannon:

"He was sentenced to ten years in state prison at Jackson, Mich., in September, 1885. This sentence will, no doubt wind up 'Old Jack's' career."

But it didn't. "Old Jack" is charged with the attempted robbery of three men in the Astor House on Tuesday night, and "Old Jack" has a story to tell that should put a stop to the ambition of many dime-novel youngsters who think that a burglar's life is the life to lead:

Don't be a burglar. It won't pay. The public is too wise. Electric lights, newspapers, with their pictures and descriptions of burglars; the advance in locksmithing, all make it a more precarious undertaking than it ever was before.

There's nothing in it. Nothing, that is, except ruin. State prison while you are young, and no honest work when you are old and know enough to want to be decent.

I became a thief away back in the war days. I was then a member of the Fifty-fourth Illinois regiment, and was on furlough in St. Louis. I was arrested as a suspicious character because there had been a theft and I was in company with a well-known thief. My picture was sent on by the police of St. Louis to Inspector Byrnes, and that is why it is in his book. As a matter of fact neither Byrnes or McLaughlin ever saw me—until the latter saw me yesterday. While under arrest there I became acquainted with a thief named "Billy" Brady, and he taught me how easy it was to rob guests in hotels.

I was released on that charge, but when, after the war, and after serving several years as pilot for government boats on the Mississippi, I finally found myself without work, my mind naturally turned to the lesson I had learned in that St. Louis jail.

I went into hotel burglary after the war, for the natural excitement of the thing. I had been a bricklayer, cook and all sorts of things before, but I wanted excitement, and I got it.

I never became a house burglar, because I would not put into jeopardy the lives of women and children. A house burglar must be prepared to sell his liberty dearly—he may have to commit murder—and I did not want to do that.

What have I got to show for it? Nothing. I'm sixty-two years old and I have been straight for nearly twenty years—but what's the use? I live in Scranton, Pa., under the name of Stewart, and I've tried to get an honest living by acting as watchman for Hendricks & company, but I came to New York to find my son, George, who is twenty-two years old, and who works for a big firm here. I hadn't heard from him in two months and I was bound to find him.

I arrived in town at 11:30 yesterday morning and after registering at the Astor House started out in the evening to find my son. He was not at his home, and I was told that he was out of town, but I concluded to search The Tenderloin. I put on the black moustache—that I had carried for a long time—so that no one would recognize me.

I didn't find my son. I returned to the Astor House at 11 o'clock. I left my room at 2:30 a. m. to seek the wash room. Purely, through habit, I had put on the moustache, and on my return to my room, I happened to turn the wrong way and walked into another room. I was surprised to find some clothes hanging on the door, and while I was feeling them the light was turned on and I was captured as a burglar. Really, I never meant to do any more burglary, and the talk of my putting up a fight is all nonsense. I happened to have a knife in my trousers—I always carried one for protection while a watchman, but I never attempted to use it.

"Jack" Cannon registered at the Astor House Tuesday as "Bernard Steward," of Scranton, Pa., and was assigned to a room on the third floor. He looked like a nice old man, clean shaven and mild of manner. Soon after came Capt. Lund and two shipmates of a Philadelphia steamer, who retired to a room on the third floor for a few hours' sleep before starting for their ship. At about 3 o'clock Lund awoke to find a strange man in his room. He turned on the electric switch and found a man with a black moustache seemingly rummaging through his clothing. The fight that followed was a splendid one. The man with the black moustache fought off the three seamen and was overpowered only when the police arrived. Then he is said to have drawn a knife. In the struggle his moustache fell off. At headquarters he was recognized by Inspector McLaughlin as famous old "Jack" Cannon, and for "Old Jack" jail looms up again.—New York American.

SOME CRAZY ANTICS

By Harry Thaw Now Come to Light.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 29.—Inquiry into the Thaw matters here today developed the story that Harry Kendall Thaw last week gave vent to an outburst here which caused his friends to doubt his sanity. There had been a meeting of the Thaw heirs at the office of the Fidelity Title and Trust company, called at the imperative summons of Harry Thaw who demanded more money. It then came out that after he had been with Evelyn Nesbitt in Paris, and before he married her, Thaw was reduced from $80,000 yearly to $7,500 per year. The decision of the meeting, however, was that Harry should not have any more money, and with this announcement he flew into a rage and members of the family fled, thinking him insane.

Thaw then went to the office of his broker and began to toss things about until he was thrown out by force. He then went to the shop of a tobacconist and asked for a package of cigarettes, a kind not often bought outside of London, and costing $1.50 per package. When the man said he didn't have them Thaw became so loud and abusive that the storekeeper threw him out and hit him with a mallet. Thaw continued in his wild race for trouble, and, boarding a car, announced that he would sit on the running board in defiance of all rules. That resulted in his being whipped by the conductor and thrown off the car in the mud. Friends then took him home.

FOR PROPAGATION OF SOCIALISM

School is Endowed by Widow in New York.

Common Ownership of All Means of Production is the Doctrine That Will Be Taught.

OPENS DOORS NEXT OCTOBER

New York, June 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth D. Rand, widow of a wealthy Wisconsin lumberman, when she died last year left all her property, amounting to several hundred thousand dollars in stocks, bonds and real estate, in trust to her daughter, the wife of Professor George D. Herron, formerly of Iowa. Morris Hillquit, a lawyer and leader of the socialist party of New York, and Mr. Fleming, an Iowa attorney, to care for until her grandson, now about 3 years old, should attain the age of 28. In the meantime the income from the estate, or such part of it as is not required to maintain and educate the heir, is to be expended in the support of a school of socialism. The income available for that purpose is expected to be not less than $7,500, and may perhaps reach $10,000 a year. Professor and Mrs. Herron are now living in Italy and they expect to remain there indefinitely. They will have no direct connection with the school, although they will take a deep interest in its welfare and the results which are expected to follow. The funds have been placed at the disposition of the American Socialistic society, an incorporated organization formed in 1901, for the purpose of receiving and disbursing bequests given for the advancement of the socialistic cause. It has now twenty-six members, most of them prominent in the socialistic propaganda of New York City.

On behalf of Mrs. George D. Herron and himself co-trustees of the Rand fund, Mr. Hillquit offered the society last winter the endowment of the school, and it was unanimously accepted. An estimate of $3,000 for the compensation of lectures; $1,600 for secretaries, salaries and expenses; $1,500 for rent, light and heating; $1,000 for printing and $900 for incidentals, was made for the disposition of the income.

Algernon Lee, the socialistic candidate for mayor of New York at the last election, is president of the college, and William J. Ghent, of 260 West Fifty-fourth street, New York, is secretary. He is the author of "Masses and Classes," "Benevolent Feudalism" and other well-known socialistic works. Morris Hillquit, 320 Broadway, is treasurer. A large old-fashioned residence building at 112 East Nineteenth street has been rented for a term of years and will be opened as headquarters on July 1. The parlor floor will be fitted up for a library, reading-room, reception-room and office; on the second floor a lecture hall and classrooms will be provided, and regular instruction will begin on Monday, October 1.

Four courses of study will be given in a systematic manner, with the use of text-books, personal instruction and examinations. On the economics of socialism, the history of socialism, the relation of the individual to the state and in composition, rhetoric and elocution students will have a full opportunity to question their instructors and lecturers.

This course involves nearly 200 lectures, which will be delivered by the most competent instructors that can be obtained.

Students will be enrolled and matriculated as in other institutions; both men and women will be admitted to the classes.

One Kind of Socialism.

When I asked Mr. Ghent what sort of socialism they intended to teach, he said:

"Socialism in the sense in which the word has been used since the time of Marx. Socialism as it involves the common or social ownership of all the means of production and distribution and the private ownership of the commodities acquired by the individual. The mines, factories, railroads and lands are to be owned by the people, just as parks and streets are owned today, but the things produced therewith, after acquisition by the individual, on the terms set by the social organization will be his own to do what he likes with them."

"We do not concede the truth of the statement that 'the term socialism covers as much ground as the term Christianity.' If any organized body of communicants in any faith or any organized body of believers in any philosophy has the right to declare the true principle and practices of that body, certainly the right must be given to the international socialistic party; the party

THE MAN ON THE BOX

By HAROLD MacGRATH

Copyright, 1936, The Bobb-Merrill Company.

"Well, one does not forget nor forgive these things in so short a time. And, after all, it was your father's folly. Pate threw him across my path at a critical moment—but I had reckoned without you. Your father is a brave man, for he has the courage to offer himself to the law; I have the courage to give you up. I, too, am a soldier; I recognize the value of retreat." To Warburton he said: "A groom, a hostler, to upset such plans as these! I do not know who you are, sir, nor how to account for your thin, pale and peculiar appearance. But I fully recognize the falseness of your presence here. Eh, well, this is what comes of race prejudice, the senseless battle which has always been and always will be waged between the noble and the peasant. Had I observed you at the proper time, our positions might have been reversed. Useless retrospection!" To Annesley: "Sir, we are equally culpable. Here is this note of yours. I might, as a small contribution toward righting the comparative wrong which I have done you, I might cast it into the fire. But between gentlemen, situated as we are, the act would be as useless as it would be impossible. I might destroy the note, but you would refuse to accept such generosity at my hands,—which is well."

"What you say is perfectly true." The colonel drew his daughter closer to him.

"So," went on the count, putting the note in his pocket, "tomorrow I shall have my duties."

"My bank will discount the note," said the colonel, with a proud look; "my indebtedness shall be paid in full."

"As I have not the slightest doubt, Mademoiselle, fortune ignores you but temporarily; misfortune has brushed only the hem of your garment, as it were. Do not let the fear of poverty alarm you,—lightly, 'I prophesy a great public future for you. And when you play that Largo of Handel's, to a breathless audience, who knows that I may not be hidden behind the curtain of some stall, drinking in the heavenly sound made by that loving bow? . . . Romance enters every human being's life; like love, and hate, it is primitive. But to every book fate writes fun."

He thrust the bank notes carelessly into his coat pocket, and walked slowly toward the hallway. At the threshold he stopped and looked back. The girl could not resist the magnetism of his dark eyes. She was momentarily fascinated, and her heart beat painfully.

"If only I might go with the memory of your forgiveness," he said.

"I forgive you." Then Karloff resolutely proceeded; the portiere fell behind him. Shortly after she heard the sound of closing doors, the rattle of a carriage and then all became still. Thus the handsome barbarian passed from the scene.

The colonel resumed his chair, his arm propped on a knee and his head bowed in his hand. Quickly the girl fell to her knees, hid her face on his breast, and regardless of the groom's presence, silently wept.

"My poor child!" faltered the colonel. "God could not have intended to give you so wretched a father. Poverty and dishonor, poverty and dishonor; I who love you so well have brought you these!"

Warburton, biting his trembling lips, tiptoed cautiously to the window, opened it and stepped outside. He raised his fevered face gratefully to the icy rain. A great and noble plan had come to him.

As Mrs. Chadwick said, love is magnificent only when it gives all without question.

CHAPTER XXIV.

A FINE LOVER.

Karloff remained in seclusion till the following Tuesday; after that day he was seen no more in Washington. From time to time some news of him filters through the diplomatic circles of half a dozen capitals to Washington. The latest I heard of him, he was at Port Arthur. It was evident that Russia valued his personal address too highly to exile him because of his failure in Washington. Had he threatened or gone about noisily, we should all have forgotten him completely. At it is, the memory of him to-day is as vivid as his actual presence. Thus, I give him what dramatists call an agreeable exit.

I was in the Baltimore and Potomac station the morning after that unforgettable night at Senator Blank's house. I had gone there to see about the departure of night trains, preparatory to making a flying trip to New York, and was leaving the station when a gloved hand touched me on the arm. The hand belonged to Mrs. Chadwick. She was dressed in the conventional traveling gray, and but for the dark lines under her eyes she would have made a picture for any man to admire. She looked tired, very tired, as women look who have not slept well.

"Good morning, Mr. Orator," she said, saluting me with a smile.

"You are going away?" I asked, shaking her hand cordially.

"Way, way away! I am leaving for Nice, where I intend to spend the winter. I had intended to remain in Washington till the holidays; but I plead guilty to a roving disposition and I frequently change my mind."

"Woman's most charming prerogative," said I gallantly.

"What a mask the human countenance is!"

is! How little I dreamed that I was jesting with a woman whose heart was breaking, and numbed with a terrible pain!

Her maid came up to announce that everything was ready for her reception in the state-room, and that the train was about to draw out of the station. Mrs. Chadwick and I bade each other good-by. Two years passed before I saw her again.

At eleven o'clock I returned to my rooms to pack a case and have the thing off my mind. Tramping restlessly up and down before my bachelor apartment house I discerned M'sieu Zhamas. His face was pale and troubled, but the angle of his jaw told me that he had determined upon something or other.

"Ha!" I said gallantly. He wore a decently respectable suit of ready-made clothes. "Lost your job and want me to give you a recommendation?"

"I want a few words with you, Chuck, and no fooling. Don't say that you can't spare the time. You've simply got to."

"With whom am I to talk, James, the groom, or Warburton, the gentleman?"

"You are to talk with the man whose sister you are to marry."

I became curious, naturally. "No police affair?"

"No, it's not the police. I can very well go to a lawyer, but I desire absolute secrecy. Let us go up to your rooms at once."

I led the way. I was beginning to desire to know what all this meant.

"Has anybody recognized you?" I asked, unlocking the door to my apartment.

"No; and I shouldn't care a hang if they had."

"Oh!"

Warburton flung himself into a chair and lighted a cigar. He puffed it rapidly, while I got together my shaving and toilet sets.

"Start her up," said I.

"Chuck, when my father died he left nearly a quarter of a million in five per cents; that is to say, Jack, Nancy and I were given a yearly income of about $4,500. Nancy's portion and mine are still in bonds which do not mature till 1900. Jack has made several bad investments, and about half of his is gone, but his wife has plenty, so his losses do not trouble him. Now, I have been rather frugal during the past seven years. I have lived entirely upon my army pay. I must have something like $20,000 lying in the bank in New York. On Monday, between three and four o'clock, Col. Annesley will become practically a beggar, a pauper."

"What?" My shaving mug slipped from my hand and crashed to the floor, where it lay in a hundred pieces.

"Yes. He and his daughter will not have a roof of their own; all gone, every stick and stone. Don't ask any questions; only do as I ask of you."

He took out his check-book and filled out two blanks. These he handed to me. "The large one I want you to place in the Union bank, to the credit of Col. Annesley."

I looked at the check. "Twenty-thousand dollars?" I gasped.

"The Union bank has this day discounted the colonel's note. It falls due on Monday. In order to meet it, he will have to sell what is left of the Virginia estate and his fine horses. The interest will be inconsiderable."

"What—" I began, but he interrupted me.

"I shall not answer a single question. The check for $3,000 is for the purchase of the horses, which will be put on sale Saturday morning. They are easily worth this amount. Through whatever agency you please, buy these horses for me, but in my name. As for the note, cash my check first and present the currency for the note. No one will know anything about it then. You can not trace money."

"Good Lord, Bob, you are crazy! You are giving away a fortune." I remonstrated.

"It is my own, and my capital remains untouched."

"Have you told her that you love her? Does she know who you are?" I was very much excited.

"No,—sadly. 'I haven't told her that I love her. She does not know who I am. What is more, I never want her to know. I have thrown my arms roughly around her, thinking her to be Nancy, and have kissed her. Some reparation is due her. On Monday I shall pack up quietly and return to the west."

"Annesley begged? What in heaven's name does this mean?" I was confounded.

"Some day, Chuck, when you have entered the family properly as my sister's husband, perhaps I may confide in you. At present the secret isn't mine. Let it suffice that through peculiar circumstances, the father of the girl I love is ruined. I am not doing this for any theatrical play, gratitude and all that rot,—with half a smile, I admire and respect Col. Annesley. I love his daughter, hopelessly enough. I have never been of much use to any one. Other persons' troubles never worried me to any extent; I was happy-go-lucky, careless and thoughtless. True, I never passed a beggar without dropping a coin into his cup. But often this act was the result of a good dinner and a special vintage. The $20,000 will keep the colonel's home, the house his child was born in and her mother before her. I am doing this crazy thing, as you call it, because it is going to make me rather happy. I shall disappear Monday. They may or they may not suspect who has come to their aid. They may even trace the thing to you; but you will be honorable to reveal nothing. When you have taken up the note, mail it to Annesley. You will find Count Karloff's name on it."

"Karloff?" I was in utter darkness.

"Yes. Annesley borrowed $20,000 of him on a three month's note. Both men are well known at the Union bank, Karloff having a temporary large deposit there, and Annesley always having done his banking at the same place. Karloff, for reasons which I can not tell you, did not turn in the note till this morning. You will take it up this afternoon."

"Annesley, whom I believed to be a millionaire, penniless? Karloff one of his creditors? Bob, I do not think that you are treating me fairly. I can't go into this thing blind."

"If you will not do it under these conditions, I shall have to find some one who will,—resolutely."

I looked at the checks and then at him. . . . Twenty-three thousand dollars! It was more than I ever before held in my hand at one time. And he was giving it away as carelessly as I should have given away a dime. Then the bigness of the act, the absolute disinterestedness of it, came to me suddenly.

"Bob, you are the finest lover in all the world! And if Miss Annesley ever knows who you are, she isn't a woman if she does not fall immediately in love with you." I slapped him on the shoulder. I was something of a lover myself, and I could understand.

"She will never know. I don't want her to know. That is why I am going away. I want to do a good deed, and be left in the dark to enjoy it. That is all. After doing this, I could never look her in the eyes as Robert Warburton. I shall dine with the folks on Sunday. I shall confess all only to Nancy, who has always been the only confidante I have ever had among the women."

There was a pause. I could bring no words to my lips. Finally I stammered out: "Nancy knows. I told her everything last night. I broke my word with you, Bob, but I could not help it. She was crying again over what she thinks to be your heartlessness. I had to tell her."

"What did she say?"—rising abruptly.

"She laughed, and I do not know when I have seen her look so happy. There'll be a double wedding yet, my boy." I was full of enthusiasm.

"I wish I could believe you, Chuck; I wish I could. I'm rather glad you told Nan. I love her, and I don't want her to worry about me." He gripped my hand. "You will do just as I ask?"

"To the very letter. Will you have a little Scotch to perk you up a bit? You look rather seedy."

SAD EXPERIENCES OF PITTSBURGERS

Matrimonial Disorders Were Their Lots.

Harry Thaw Led Them All But James G. Blaine, Jr., And Others Followed Close.

SOME FAMOUS ILLUSTRATIONS

Pittsburg, June 29.—Pittsburg millionaires and their sons have been unfortunate in their marriages. And they can scarcely make Adam's excuse and say, "The woman Thou gavest me, oh, Lord," for in most cases it has been the wife who has suffered wrong at the hands of the husband, or at least the evidence in the divorce courts seems to have borne out this theory.

Through a long series of years there has been a string of divorce cases on trial here in the Allegheny county courts which attracted attention throughout the country.

List Led By a Thaw.

One of the earlier Thaws, his name has been forgotten just for the moment, started the list. That was the famous "Indian princess" trial. Glorious old "Tom" Marshall, Allegheny county's most famous criminal lawyer, made his reputation in the trial of that case. Cuba U. Quit was the Indian princess. She married a Thaw. At least the world recognized them as married, and the man never made any denial of it. She knew little of her husband or his antecedents. When he died she was advised to sue for her widow's dower of his rich estate.

Only the older people of the nation remember that trial today, but it was one of the most remarkable ever tried here. The Thaws won, although the popular verdict was in favor of the dusky Indian girl who had pledged her life and her honor to the scion of the Thaws. All that remains in Pittsburg today to recall that famous trial is an alleyway named for the Indian princess.

It was a rich scandal while it lasted. Buried somewhere under the dust of two generations in the Allegheny county court house are the records of the famous "Cuba U. Quit" claims. To his dying day "Tom" Marshall maintained the Indian woman had been wronged because of her color.

Legend of Indian's Curse.

There is a legend that when denied even the honor of wifehood, the Indian woman pronounced a curse on the name of Thaw. Whether she did or not, the family has certainly suffered from its share of tragedies and scandals.

Old William Thaw, founder of the family, never went through the divorce court, but he had his own troubles. He is known only as a Christian gentleman, philanthropist, business man of remarkable ability. The fact that his wife did not live with him for years because of his fondness for the society of other women, particularly young girls, is not exploited so much as his good deeds. He maintained a big house down in Fifth avenue, where he carried on as suited his tastes, while his wife and the children lived out in the East End. The family visited him often.

Some Recent Sensations.

Of course the case of William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation; Harry Kendall Thaw and Augustus Hart's, the millionaire paper manufacturer of this city, are just now crowding the newspapers. They are each ensnared enough in every way. Corey, lifted from comparative poverty as clerk in a coal office at $40 a month to a position where he presided over the business of a billion-dollar corporation, lost his head over a chorus girl. The wife he had married when she was a house servant for his father would not do for his exalted station. He wanted to be rid of her and the divorce suit recently filed by the wife in Nevada is the result.

Augustus Hartje is now endeavoring to prove his wife is a moral degenerate and has named a negro as correspondent in his divorce case.

Blaine, Jr.'s Troubles.

James G. Blaine, Jr., was a Pittsburg. His father was born and raised but a few miles outside of the city and he met and married his first wife here. She was Miss Marie Nevin, of this city. She was a pretty actress with a brilliant career ahead of her. She probably thought an alliance with the son of the first statesman of the day would bring laurels to her she could reach no other way. It brought heartaches and she sued him for divorce. She married Dr. Bull, a famous surgeon of New York. Young Blaine entered the matrimonial market again and wedded Miss Martha Hitchcock, daughter of Secretary of the Interior

Hitchcock. She is now suing him for divorce.

Lawrence C. Phipps, nephew of Henry Phipps, partner of Andrew Carnegie, is another Pittsburg millionaire whose married life did not prove happy. There was much sensational testimony could have been brought out in the trial of that case, but it was not. The divorce was secured quietly, and now it is said the divorces are casting sheep-eyes at each other, and if they were remarried it would not surprise anybody.

Romance of Hart McKee.

Hart McKee son of the millionaire glass man and traction magnate, married Lydia Sutton. She stood it as long as she could and sued for divorce on the grounds of gross cruelty, negligence and non-support. He settled that by paying her $30,000 and contesting the divorce. A messenger waited here the day the decision was handed down and the instant it was over he started with a transcript for New York. Arriving there he placed the transcript in Hart McKee's hands at 7 o'clock the next morning. That afternoon a license was granted McKee to wed the beautiful Denver widow, Mrs. Trevis. They were married and started at once for Europe, sailing that afternoon. They have not disturbed the serene pool of Pittsburg society since.

James King Clarke is known wherever divorce proceedings are read. He was son and heir of the iron master, Charles Clark. He married Miss Edith Bartlett, and the honeymoon never ended, for the divorce suit began too soon.

That Tired Feeling.

If you are languid, depressed, incapable for work, it indicates that your liver is out of order. Herbine will assist nature to throw off headaches, rheumatism and ailments akin to nervousness and restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health. J. J. Hubbard Temple, of Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for the past two years. It has done me more good than all the doctors. It is the best medicine ever made for chills and fever." 50c. Sold by Alvey & List.

A Suspicious Opening.

"Tell me honestly what you think of my musical talent."

"Well, if you'll promise not to be offended—"

"Why, of course not—but never mind; let's talk of something else."

—Translated for Tales from "Meg-dendorfer Blatter."

You can doubtless name a number of people who talk too much—including yourself.

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED.

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so early that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation."

"Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more, and I am entirely well."—Fannie D.
